CITIZENS OF THE NEW TURKEY KNOW HOW TO PLAY

Holiday-makers bound for Princes Island, in the Sea of Marmora. Many prosperous Turks of Istanbul, the old capital, have summer homes along the Bosporus or the Sea of Marmora, and commute back and forth. At rush hours these fast boats are as packed as a New York or a San Francisco ferry. It takes only an hour to travel from the Princes Island to Galata Bridge, the Istanbul terminal.
